Everything is in Everything is a collaborative contemporary art commission with artists Clodagh Emoe, Jenny Brady and 4th year students at Hartstown Community School, Dublin 15.

A partnership project between Superprojects and Fingal Arts Office.

Everything is in Everything has seen artists Clodagh Emoe and Jenny Brady, with input from writer Sue Rainsford, work with students from Hartstown Community School over 13 weeks to enquire into the many ways that objects, scriptwriting, imagery, choreographed movement, editing techniques, sound and performance can be used to suggest narrative; and to consider how experiences can be constructed for viewers of artworks.

The artistic outcome of this project is the vibrant and evocative moving-image artwork 'The Butterfly Effect', which considers causality and regret in modern life. This artwork, and documentation film on the project's processes, will be premiered in The Irish Museum of Modern Art on Tuesday 24th April. This celebration will take place in the presence of Cllr Mary McCamley, Mayor of Fingal.

We would be delighted if you could attend the event. Please RSVP to cleofagan@gmail.com by 18th April to confirm attendance.
