Chief Executive's Message

The Christmas period is in full swing now and it is wonderful to see so many people out and about enjoying all the wonderful events that are happening across the County. I would like to extend a heartfelt gratitude to my staff for making these opportunities take place and for their efforts delivering so many other initiatives across 2022.

While there have been many projects undertaken this year, one of the major focuses of our work has been around the Fingal Draft Development Plan (2023-2029). This will help shape Fingal for the future when it comes to important issues such as housing, economic development, community and heritage. We are now moving ever closer to the final version of this being adopted, and I would like to thank Councillors and Fingal staff for tireless efforts throughout the entire process.

Alongside this, I was pleased to welcome the approval by Councillors of the Swords Cultural Quarter. This is one of the most significant projects in our Capital Programme and will help deliver a new state-of-the-art County Library as well as an art gallery and exhibition space, a café, a civic area, studios and rehearsal rooms, and a much-needed theatre.

Meanwhile the Council's Active Travel team continues to take action on environmental change as they progress through several projects like the 'Safe Routes to School', expansion of TIER bikes across all areas in Fingal and the Light Up Your Bike initiative.

As we are in the festive period, I'd like to take this opportunity to highlight some holiday reminders:

Over Christmas, our offices will close to the public at 4.30pm on Friday, December 23, 2022 and reopen at 9.00am on Tuesday, January 3, 2023. Please note the customercareunit@fingal.ie inbox will not be monitored during this period, so for emergencies during these times please ring 01 8905000.

Details including opening times for Libraries, Recycling Centres and Christmas Tree Collection Points can also be found here.

Finally, on behalf of Fingal's staff I'd like to wish everyone a Merry Christmas and a happy and safe New Year

-AnnMarie Farrelly

Mayor's Message

This is a time of year that many people look forward to and it is made particularly special by all of Fingal's towns beautifully decorated in holiday finery, I'd like to say many thanks to everyone who has helped make the Christmas markets and tree lighting events that I've had the pleasure to attend such a success.

As we look to usher in a New Year, I have been reflecting on the number of opportunities I have already had to travel around the county and engage with so many residents as part of my role. There are so many people across Fingal who are thoroughly deserving of our continuing gratitude for the work they have done and the commitment they have for helping others. For these people especially, may you find time to relax and be fully re-energized as we move into 2023.

Housing is one of my major priorities, so I was delighted to be able to recently welcome the Taoiseach to officially open the Ladyswell social housing scheme in Mulhuddart which consists of 65 properties, a third of which are dedicated age-friendly homes. We were also able to tour the Council's largest housing development at Church Fields which will deliver around 1,000 new affordable and social homes on this publicly owned 37-hectare site.

This year I've been also been stressing how important it is that we look to not only embrace the power of community partnership, but that we take the time to consider views and experiences that are different from our own. I was delighted to celebrate this year's Inclusion Week, when many events took place to highlight the excellent work the community groups and the Council have been doing to deliver a wide range of community initiatives and services, be it to support older people, members of ethnic minority communities, young people and children.

Of course, Christmas is not just about receiving gifts and spending time with loved ones, but a time when we should all be inspired to reach out to others. Please be kind to one another, especially those who may not have family and friends around or who just need that little extra support, particularly at a time when it is so cold.

I would like to thank the people of Fingal for the opportunity to represent them, and my fellow Councillors for all their support throughout what has been a busy six months. May I also take this opportunity to commend the Council staff who work so hard to improve the lives of those around them.

So, as the celebrations begin, I'd like to wish everyone in Fingal a Happy Christmas and a peaceful and prosperous New Year.

-Cllr Howard Mahony

Fingal Libraries Additional Services

Fingal Libraries is adding to the range of services we offer to be responsive to the needs of everybody in our communities. In partnership with NOW Group, a social enterprise that supports people with learning difficulties and autism, we have introduced the Jam Card service into all Fingal libraries.

JAM Card© was created by NOW Group participants with learning difficulties and autism who wanted a discreet way of communicating they need 'Just A Minute' (JAM) of time / assistance in certain situations. It has since developed into a card and app that is used by people with any communication difficulty.

Fingal Libraries is also delighted to announce the introduction of a new inclusive technology, the C-Pen Reader.

The C-Pen Reader Pen is a portable, pocket-sized tool that scans and reads words and full lines of text aloud, supporting independent reading and literacy. The pen is ideal for people with reading difficulties such as dyslexia or those with vision difficulties. Adults and children who are learning the English language will also find the reading pen an extremely helpful piece of technology to use.

Visit your local Fingal Library branch to find out how to borrow a C-Pen Reader pen. Members of the public can borrow a Reader Pen for a period of three weeks and each Fingal Library branch will also have a Reader Pen available to use in the library.

Fingal Libraries has also received a very special donation of 100 books for children written in the Ukrainian language. Suitable for children aged from 0 to 15 years, these books will be available to borrow from any Fingal Library and it is hoped that they will provide comfort and joy to Ukrainian children and their families during their stay in Ireland.

A special thank you to Edel Finn who kindly donated the books.

Further information on upcoming library events and services is available at your local library, on the Fingal Libraries website <https://www.fingal.ie/fingallibraries> and on Fingal Libraries social media: Facebook, Instagram @librariesfingal and Twitter @fingallibraries

Big Push for Pedal Power

The people of Fingal are taking to the streets on TIER eBikes and Bleeper Bikes, which are now a feature of many towns and villages across the county. Following the recent expansion of the TIER eBike scheme to include over 300 eBikes in Fingal the company reported that since the scheme was launched in June of this year, Fingal residents have cycled over 2,500 hours on TIER e-bikes. The average trip distance is over 4.5km, a much further distance than the majority of towns and cities that TIER operates in.

Director of Environment, Climate Action and Active Travel, David Storey, says 'Fingal residents and visitors have been enjoying this low carbon, convenient and affordable Active Travel option since it arrived earlier this year and we expect to see lots more people give TIER eBikes a try in the coming weeks as their numbers increase."

ESB eBikes also came into operation in mid-August and will run for a ten-month period. With 3 Fingal charging stations located in Swords, Malahide and Howth, these ESB eBikes add another convenient option for people choosing Active Travel to get where they're going.

Bleeper will maintain and operate the eBikes with the charging infrastructure provided by ESB. Bleeper's ESB eBikes scheme is available from today and is accessible via the Bleeper app.

You don't need to own a bike to get cycling - you can sign up for Bleeper or Tier and unlock a bike or e-bike to use whenever you need one.

These bikes are ideal for daily trips to work, training or the shops as well as leisure use. So whether you're thinking about a cycle to the seaside or a pedal to the park you should sign up today and get pedalling!

Snugborough Gets Active Travel Ready

Fingal's Department of Planning & Strategic Infrastructure recently began installation of cycle lanes and walking paths across the Snugborough Interchange. Significant work has been taking place on this major infrastructure upgrade throughout 2022 and details of progress, including timelapse videos, can be found at <https://www.snugboroughinterchange.ie/>

Fingal Coastal Way Reaches New Milestone

The emerging preferred route for flagship amenity the Fingal Coastal Way has been published and Fingal County Council is encouraging the public to review and comment on the route before December 22nd.

This 32km leisure and commuting route will stretch from Newbridge House in Donabate to north of Bremore Castle in Balbriggan. Taking in the stunning north Fingal coastline the route will connect Donabate, Rush, Loughshinny, Skerries and Balbriggan allowing for safer cycling and walking between the towns, while also offering beautiful coastal views and scenic stops at landmarks such as Drumanagh Fort and Rogerstown Park.

Those interested in viewing the proposed route and sharing their opinions can do so at www.fingal.ie/fingalcoastalway, where they will also find details on the history of the project to date. All feedback received before Thursday, 22 December will be read by the project team as design work continues.

Following closure of this phase of consultation the Emerging Preferred Route design will be considered and comments from the public taken into account before the publication of a final route in 2023.

Festive Season in Fingal

Swords community begins to help shape future of major park

A range of ideas have been shared by residents on what they would like to see in place at Ward River Regional Park

The first public engagement session on the future of Ward River Regional Park has taken place, with a range of ideas being shared by residents of the Swords community on what they would like to see in the park moving forward.

While around 70 people met with the project team as part of an interactive workshop recently held at Rivalley Community Centre, over 650 people completed an online park survey that will help inform the overall design for the park and how it should be used in the future.

The in-person workshop allowed the community to see the existing conditions of the park, discussing what they would like to see as it is transformed park and how spaces could be re-imagined for people of all ages. Activity sheets with pictorial guides were provided to attendees to help visualise how the park is used.

The project - led by Fingal's Parks & Green Infrastructure Division - aims to deliver a sustainable vision for the development of the park. Protection and enhancement of the existing heritage, ecology and biodiversity is a key element of the park's future, along with developing new links within the park and with the wider area. A public report on the findings of the first community consultation will be published by the Council shortly.

Building on the valuable contributions and feedback received so far, a second phase of consultation is scheduled to take place in the first half of 2023 to help develop the preliminary design proposals further.

For more information and to keep track of the project, please visit <https://www.fingal.ie/WardRiverRegionalPark>.

Sustainable Festive Season

As you begin to get organised and start planning for this festive season, it would be good to consider how you can minimise your waste and reduce your carbon footprint over the Christmas season.

Over the Christmas season we tend to overbuy food and as a result we create 25-30% more food waste than normal. Food waste emits methane as it rots away, and it is estimated that globally 8% of this greenhouse gas is created by food waste. To learn more about the link between food waste and carbon emissions you can read a previous article on P8 and 9 of this issue of the Fingal News here.

Before doing your Christmas food shop think about what you need and what you will use. Decide how many people you will feed and write out a shopping list to help avoid over buying.

Consider the type of packaging, if any, that is on food and where possible avoid buying food that is packaged in plastic. If you cannot avoid plastic, recycle it correctly in the green bin or even better still, reuse it!

Below are 5 Key Tips that will help you to prevent creating avoidable food waste.

1. Plan your festive food menu. Planning what you will cook will allow you to create a food list when doing your grocery shop. This will stop you overbuying ingredients you don't need.

2. Allow your guests to serve themselves. This may seem like an odd thing to do when you have people over to your house for dinner, but by doing so you will prevent people being served larger portions and or food that they do not like.

3. Be sure to freeze any leftovers that you do not think will be eaten in the next few days. Freezing food will lengthen its lifespan and stop it from spoiling. You can also freeze bread to keep it fresh and then simply toast it when you want to eat it.

4. Make big batches of food when you have the ingredients and just freeze the extra portion for another day. This will not only save food from being thrown away, but it will also save you time, and over the Christmas period it is always good to use your time as efficiently as possible.

5. Use up leftovers by incorporating them into other recipes. The EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) has created a 'Christmas Recipe Cookbook' to stop food being wasted over the holiday period. Click here to see the gorgeous range of free recipes.
